Impressive Scenes at Tabernacle as 800 Hit Trail

EVANGELIST IS AFFECTED

Near Breaking Point Under Stress of Hard Work

"Now the young people have set the example," Dr. W. E. Biederwolf declared after his sermon at the tabernacle Friday night, while more than 600 young men and women of the Lima High Schools stood about the platform and gave their hearts to God that they might go out in the world and live better lives for Him.

"Come on, fathers and mothers, Oh, I know that you are church members," he continued. "Come on up anyway and renew your vows to God. Be a help to these young people who have just now given me their hand for a better life."

The evangelist plainly showed the effects of the great strain under which he labored. "I have been told by friends and by physicians," he said, "that if I do not stop preaching I will shorten my life ten years. But what difference does that make, when I have the consciousness that I am performing a service for God and for mankind. It is wonderful. I am content. It is wonderful. I am content to go on, and I thank God for the opportunity."

The stand the young people took was an inspiration to the older people and more than 200 persons followed their example and walked the trail.

"Dr. Stevens," the evangelist said, at the close of the service, "You get someone to offer the final prayer. I am all in somehow. I don't know when I have labored harder, but it is a great pleasure to work for these young men and women. They mean

THEORIES LINKED IN POISON CASE

Probers Work on Supposed Causes of Lancaster Tragedy

CLUES POINT TO WOMAN

Illness and Religious Fanaticism Believed Responsible

LANCASTER, Ohio — (Associated Press) — While authorities here awaited results of analysis now being made at Columbus, to determine the exact cause of the death of the Irving Henderson family of six here, the theory that Mrs. Henderson might have poisoned the family during a period of mental depression induced by illness, apparently was somewhat strengthened.

"That either real or imaginary illness was preying upon her mind was believed by authorities to have been shown yesterday by the finding of a letter from Karackas Red Wood, of Circleville, self-styled 'Indian Healer.' In his letter, dated September 1, Wood addressed Mrs. Henderson as a 'new sister' and assured her that he would cure her by use of the 'Hindoo Occult Absent Method.' Wood declared in a telephonic conversation however, that he never had treated the woman.

Another discovery made yesterday led officials to believe that religious fanaticism might have had a place in the disordered mind of the woman and been a contributory factor in any act she may have committed.

ANOTHER THEORY

On the bottom of a cardboard box found in the home was the notation 'Ezekiel 16:6.' Referring to a Bible, the passage was found to read 'And when I passed by thee and saw thee polluted in thine own blood I said unto thee, thou must in thy blood live.' One of yesterday's developments was the departure from Lancaster of Mrs. C. B. Allen, a sister of the dead woman, and her next door neighbor. Mrs. Allen and her husband packed up their belongings and returned to their former home at Nelsonville, Mrs. Allen declaring that she couldn't stand the sight of that house any longer."

THREE TAKEN IN RAID BY GIRL

Female Officer Battles Alleged Bootleggers at Toledo

TOLEDO — (Associated Press) — Aided by a man whom she deputized as an assistant, Miss Dorothy Hattersley, 24, deputy marshal in Justice of the Peace Ballou's court at Waterville, last night raided an alleged bootlegging establishment in the residence district here and caused the arrest of three men on a warrant charging them with violating the prohibition act.

Those arrested and held at police headquarters are:

Henry Sauter, 51, William George, 46 and A. L. Money, 46.

Miss Hattersley and her companion entered the house and purchased a bottle of whiskey, according to her report. Producing the warrant she placed the men under arrest. In a scuffle that followed the warrant was taken from her and torn to pieces and her companion thrown from the house. Miss Hattersley also was ejected before she could make use of two revolvers she carried in her dress. Neighbors hearing the disturbance called local police who battered down the door to the place and took the three men into custody. At police headquarters Miss Hattersley produced the bottle of whiskey as evidence.

MANY EX-SERVICE MEN IN WANT

Charges Made Against State Officials at Columbus

"INQUIRIES UNANSWERED"

Hundreds of Veterans' Claims Declared Unpaid

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — Charges of inefficiency, red tape and lack of "human consideration" on the part of the state bonus bureau, at Columbus, were made today by County Prosecutor E. C. Stanton, who declared hundreds of former service men are in want because bonus claims have not been paid.

Stanton, whose office since April has been a clearing house for bonus applications from this county, said hundreds of letters of inquiry directed to the Columbus bureau have never been answered.

CHARGES SUBSTANTIATED

More than 7,000 men have been sent there and to the adjutant general's office at Washington, concerning approximately 1,000 claims. His charges were substantiated by Luke P. Wolford, secretary of the Cuyahoga-co council of the American Legion, who reported similar experiences in handling claims.

Wolford cited one case in which he said an ex-soldier with bonus affidavits, written by Stanton and Police Prosecutor Skeel five months ago, had received letters from Columbus three weeks ago asking for affidavits.

OHIOAN SHOT TO DEATH BY HIS SON-IN-LAW

CANTON, Ohio — William A. Phalen, 48, was shot and fatally wounded this morning by his son-in-law, E. J. Howels, chief of detectives for the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad. Phalen died soon after being removed to the hospital. Howels was placed under arrest. He claims he shot in self-defense.

The shooting was the outgrowth of a family quarrel, police said, and families in the southwest end of the city. Phalen was employed on the W. & L. E. as a special officer.

STEEL MERGER IS PUT THRU

Bethlehem and Midvale Companies Are Consolidated

COMBINED TONNAGE 7,600,000

Common Stock of New Concern Given as $180,250,000

NEW YORK — (United Press) — As a result of a merger, in which the Bethlehem Steel Corporation absorbed the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Company, the former company today becomes the most important competitor of the United States Steel Corporation.

Announcement of the merger was made by Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem, and W. E. Carey, president of Midvale.

The consolidation of the two companies will give Bethlehem an annual capacity of 7,600,000 tons.

NO OPPOSITION

Acquisition of the Midvale company is the result of negotiations between Charles M. Schwab and officers of the absorbed company, which have been going on for the past several months. Grace declared there was no opposition to the merger from officers of the various companies and that he did not expect that the attorney general's office would offer any objection.

He does expect, however, the federal trade commission will file a complaint against it.

As soon as completion of the combination is effected, Bethlehem will have common stock of $180,250,000 preferred stock outstanding of a par value of $22,000,000 and a funded debt of $212,000,000.

MILLIONAIRE IS SHOT TO DEATH

Chicago Tragedy May be Result of Love Affair

WOMAN IS SUSPECTED

Many Quizzed in Killing of "Handsome Joe" Lanus

CHICAGO — (United Press) — Numerous women were quizzed today by police investigating the murder of "Handsome Joe" Lanus, millionaire automobile dealer and bachelor.

Lanus was found shot twice in the back with his own revolver in a garage. A full-length woman's champagne-colored glove lay nearby. He was still alive when found, but died without regaining consciousness. He was shot at 7 p. m. Friday.

Just as Sergeant Lee Conley, of the police force arrived at the scene Lanus' telephone rang. Conley answered.

"Is this Joe?" a woman's voice asked.

"Yes, this is Joe," Conley replied. "No it isn't," the caller replied and hung up the receiver.

All efforts to trace the call which police believe would aid greatly in solving the murder, have failed.

CHIEF CLUES

The chief clues on which authorities are working were furnished by Miss Alice McArdle, a bookkeeper for Lanus. She said he had many women friends and gave the names of some of them.

Lanus was a frequent cabaret visitor and a well known figure to the night life of Chicago. Another theory that was advanced by police was that Lanus might have been mistaken for his brother, also in the automobile business. They bear a startling resemblance.

"Handsome Joe" didn't like women individually," Miss McArdle said. "He wasn't satisfied unless he had

"At last a super-picture worthy of the name... Staggering in its magnificence; gripping in its story; wonderful in the handling of its mobocracy; 'Nero' comes pretty near standing alone—the acme of the spectacular in motion pictures."

—New York Evening World.

"'Nero' is a magnificent spectacle for all, with a love story to touch every heart. From the first flicker to the very end it held us spellbound. The direction is perfect and the acting superb... gorgeous brilliant and thrilling."

—New York Tribune.

"'Nero' is an enormous spectacle. Photographed in Italy... on the very ground where the events detailed are supposed to have taken place centuries ago, with huge sets and thousands of people, it is one of the biggest films from a purely spectacular point of view... contains some of the finest photography extant."

—N. Y. Evening Mail.

"Massive pillars, palaces and a huge amphitheatre... and they were photographed by artists. Scene after scene passes of almost breath-taking beauty... In 'Nero' Mr. Fox has outdone himself. We fully agree that 'Nero' is the climax of motion picture progress."

—New York Sun.

"No historical photodrama has ever been so smoothly told as this... the staging is a work of art."

William Fox Presents

FAUROT

4 DAYS ONLY
STARTING
TOMORROW

OPERA HOUSE

Over a Year Was Required to Complete This Marvelous Motion Picture

CONTAINS MANY THRILLERS

Directed by J. Gordon Edwards, It Surpasses Any of His Previous Efforts

Jaded movie fans may now experience the Big Thrill! Those who have watched with dog-like patience for the great American drama have looked in vain but the super-film has arrived, thanks to William Fox. It is called "Nero," and will be shown at the Faurot Opera House for four days starting tomorrow.

The bloody reign of the last of the Caesars is shown in a wonderfully thrilling manner and with historical accuracy. The picture was taken in Rome and vicinity, a few scenes are near Naples and in the Alps. An entire city was built on the outskirts of Rome only to be destroyed by torch.

An idea of the stupendous cast may be gleaned from the fact that in one scene 65,000 people were employed. Most spectacular films resort to hokum for their effects. This one tells a story with a careful fidelity to historical accuracy that grips and holds. One is transported back to the days of bloody tyrants and Roman orgies.

It is the kind of film that will still the artistic sneer at the celluloid drama. There are moments of terrifying suspense, reminding of the days when Richard Mansfield gripped the imagination and sent the heart racing with fear.

The burning of Rome sweeps the emotions with the same fervor that Nero plucks his lyre during the holocaust. The flames can be seen eating their way while thousands upon thousands of terror stricken men and women rush pell-mell to safety.

Then there is the storming of the tyrant's citadel by an angry populace. This is the scene where 65,000 people are filmed. It is mob fury at its worst. Buildings are torn down, statues toppled into the street and havoc of destruction the like of which has never been seen before.

The chariot race for the soul of a girl is skillfully worked up to a feverish climax. In the arena are thousands upon thousands echoing the spirit of the Roman holiday. The crowds at the Yale Bowl at New Haven look puny in comparison. In this connection it is reported that the American director sought the "extras" by means of advertising and as the crowds came, each was given a costume.

They were entertained with games until the time was ripe for the chariot race. They knew nothing of what was going to happen. So it was when the chariot race was actually staged, the expressions on the thousands of faces were not acting but real. Some idea of the extent of the assemblages may be gleaned from the fact that between 350 and 400 men were kept constantly busy carrying water to the crowds.

"What's in the Paper Tonight?"

The best newspaper gives the quickest answer

THERE are almost as many kinds of newspaper "dress" as there are newspapers. That is, every newspaper displays its news and features in its own particular fashion, and while many of them seem alike the skilled observer can always detect sharp points of difference.

But newspaper style has nothing whatever to do with the character of the newspaper or the quality of the news it prints

A wholly spectacular newspaper can---and often does---lurk behind a shield of apparent conservatism, while another may so "dress" its front page as to APPEAR spectacular, yet carry only the most conservative of news and features.

The theory of The Lima News master make-up is the theory of the store window. It has merchandise--news--for sale. Some of its merchandise is more important than the rest of it, and just as a good merchant "dresses" his windows, so does The Lima News "dress" its front page with the variety of its wonder wares.

And the fact that it displays two or even three pieces of news conspicuously is nothing more or less than good salesmanship

Read The Lima News regularly, carefully. Over 65,000 of your friends and neighbors do it every day. You will find, as they find, that it is an alert, aggressive, reliable and READ-ABLE newspaper, vigorous in its daring, yet conservative in its handling of news facts of every character.

You will also find that The Lima News gives you the quickest answer to that question---

WHEN YOU SLEEP

JACK BRITTON, former welterweight champion, offers $10,000 to any one who can make him sleep normally. He's had insomnia for a year. Many pugilists have it only in the ring.

"It's nervous trouble," says Britton. "Training for 20 years has proved too much. While I haven't any particular designs on getting 'the title back, I figure I can still box a lot if I can get to sleep. If I can't, I'll be forced to quit."

Jack, why don't you try reading the Congressional Record? If you have ever tossed at night, unable to drown this nerve-stabbing life in deep sleep, you sympathize with Britton.

We spend a third of our lives in bed. And the incalculable value of sound sleep is realized only by the chronic victim of insomnia.

Do you find, on the average, that your waking life is more delicious than the perfect calm of sleep? Considering the joy with which we close our eyes and rest our weary bodies and tired brains at night, it is a trifle strange how man dreads the final sleep, death.

Sir Basil Thomson, former head of Scotland Yard detectives, has solved many mysteries of crime. None of them was a millionth as mysterious as sleep.

Clapereid had a theory, that nature makes us sleep to prevent us from killing ourselves by exhaustion.

The Coriat school of physicians believes that sleep is simply a relaxation of all muscles, necessary to rid our bodies of poisons accumulated while awake.

A third theory, by Dr. Boris Sidis, is that monotony is the cause of sleep. When life no longer is interesting enough to keep us awake, we chloroform ourselves with slumber. If so, we sleep because our subconscious minds get bored at this rather dull life on earth.

It is one of the most baffling enigmas of nature, is sleep. Also, one of the greatest forms of real wealth, or fortune. Dollars and fame lose their lure when natural sleep is denied chronically.

What would you not give to know what happens to your real self when slumber divorces you from the material world?

GETS RESULTS

RUBBER heels now are on 60 out of each 100 pairs of shoes worn by men. Such is the estimate going the rounds in the shoe industry.

It is not surprising, if you have noticed how many men wear rubber heels. But maybe you remember back only a few years when rubber heels were unusual.

What brought them into popularity? The answer is—Advertising.

Three-fourths of the rubber heels sold are for men's shoes. This is because most of the advertising has been directed at men.

One of these days some wise manufacturer of rubber heels will notice this. Then he'll call in the advertising man and his staff of writers and artists.

Campaigns will follow. And soon women will be wearing just as many rubber heels as men.

It's all a matter of advertising—the most powerful force in the sale of goods. The ideal combination is advertising, which reaches consumers' brains thru their eyes, and personal salesmanship which reaches less vividly thru the ears.

Our present standard of living is largely the creation of advertising. For advertising creates the demand, makes the people want the thing advertised. When the lure becomes powerful enough, they hustle about and get the money to obtain what they want.

Advertising thus spurs sales. It also stimulates production—both of the things advertised and the things that have to be done on a bigger scale to obtain money for purchasing advertised wares.

There is a new thought for you—that advertising is a definite agency of production. Most of us have been thinking of it merely as a medium of salesmanship.

Advertising is what is making us buy.

Advertising is what is enabling us to buy. It creates the demand. And the demand induces us to work harder to get the money to spend. If all advertising were abruptly discontinued, the American standard of living would quickly drop to the levels of grandpa's day.

Read the ads. They are a part of the news, telling the intimate story of the average American's inner desires. The real history of civilization is written in ads.

So, look up your district and be sure and arrange the fire at your house. To occur during office hours of the firemen. Otherwise, you will be doing a hardship to the poor insurance companies.

Lunched at home, solitaire. My wife, poor wretch, having ironed her new kingham. And looking quite swank. And leaving via the Fordolet. To a luncheon at a rich man's house. His wife, not he, giving the luncheon. Or, praises be, there would have been a shooting scrape in that Hollywood ultra section.

In the snow, meandered about back to the office. En route buying half dozen pairs cotton gloves against my brother's birthday. At The First National, saw the wife of Newt Cunningham, the pseudo-golf club. Clipping coupons, a hardship I never indulge.

About the town, and into the Manhattan for a footacure, with polish. Seeing Doc Marmion the pill compiler, and Dr. G. R. Clayton, the eminent specialist, having too, their brave kicks ironed. On Lizzie-st, bowed in fne fryendliness to Frank Bentz, the millionaire home builder and city philanthropist.

There's Pete Beck, one of the best posted financiers on real estate in this town. To the office, greeting Samuel Fishel, asking why school boards buy properties without appraisalment. By the Real Estate board. Whose services to the educators would be free gratis for nothing. From time immemorial, have been staccato asked why public boards do strange things.

So, home and dined on lamb chops, carrots (for the rabbits, my sharp), browned potatoes and gravy, head lettuce with mayonnaise. Laid Campoll's peaches for the sweet. Must get Auntie May-me busy on rice and mush, or Dorsey will take my whole pay-check this month and, early to bed.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity of digestion from his normal condition of health and well-being. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry, restlessness, constant turning of the head, or the whole body, fretful, in these other ways he tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers think that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not move, are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor in the most urgent cases in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equalled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

Castoria always bears the signature of Dr. J. C. Hart

YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Prepared for The Lima News by Rev. Hugh T. Stevenson

Christ's second missionary tour thru Galilee furnishes us the opportunity of seeing something of the Master's missionary purpose and power. Jesus was the founder of modern missions. They express His love and passion for a lost world. The opposition that we saw developing in our previous studies caused the Lord to change His methods of work when He started upon His second missionary journey. He was accompanied by twelve, whom He was teaching by precept and practice how to carry on His work after His departure, and by a band of women whom He had won by His ministry of love.

Women owe to the missionary work of Jesus their freedom and emancipation from the bondage of slavery. The noble group of women, who followed Jesus and ministered unto Him and His Apostles, had been healed by the great Physician of their infirmities and evil spirits. Their presence made a tremendous appeal to the women of the various communities they visited. Some of them, like the wife of Herodias, were of high social positions. They gave of their funds and found in the commonest tasks for His welfare the joy and privilege of worship. Women have recognized their debt to Christ and have been during all the centuries of Christian history His most loyal supporters and promoters of His missionary program to win the nations of the world for His kingdom.

Jesus recognized the dangers of popularity. He was not deceived by the crowds that flocked out of the cities and communities to hear Him speak along the shore of the Lake of Galilee. He depended upon a quiet men and women one by one for His cause. He proclaimed His greatest truths to one woman at the well of Sychar. Pulpit power has not always promoted the upbuilding of the Kingdom of God. The church that carries the message of sympathy for the needy and of the respect for human rights counts most in His plan. He warned them against counting too much upon popularity because of the diverse character of His hearers.

It was about this time that Jesus commenced a new method of teaching. He adopted the illustrative method of instructing His Apostles and disciples by using the parables that veiled His message from those who possessed no spiritual insight. One of His matchless parables, which is general called that of the sower, is in this week's lesson. He was seeking to impress upon His students during this period of His missionary activities the nature of the Kingdom of God. He could not openly teach that truth without being misunderstood by those who looked upon a kingdom as a revolt against the Romans. These men were present, as spies seeking to catch a contradiction, and condemn Christ's teachings. He was speaking upon a dangerous subject even when He tried to make the disciples understand that it was a spiritual organism growing from Divine seed. He has given us in His own words the interpretation of the parable, which is found in the Gospel of Luke. He presented itself to Him from His floating pulpit that early spring morning, when He preached to the crowds upon the sea shore. The receptivity of human hearts determined the success of missionary effort. This places the responsibility upon each individual soul for his own fate.

The Pharisees could only explain the miracles of Jesus on the ground that He was being used of Satan. They claimed that it was due to the power of the Evil One that He performed His acts of mercy and grace. They must have influenced the Master's family to look at the activities of the Lord from a similar viewpoint for upon one of the occasions, when He returned to His headquarters in Capernaum, His mother and the other members of His family came down from Jerusalem determined to bring Him home with them because they feared for His safety or possibly thought He had overworked and was broken down. When they reached His home, they could not get in because of the crowds so they sent for Him to come out to them. The Lord declined His mother's request, because of His duty to His heavenly Father. There must have been something of a surprise, when Jesus mildly rebuked His kin folk, who wished to interfere with His carrying out His missionary work, by the declaration that spiritual fellowship was more vital than any human ties. Obedience to His word freed the Christians from the bondage of the traditions of the synagogue and traditions of men. It emphasized the spiritual unity of His followers.

Worn out and weary from the activities of the day Jesus ordered: His disciples to turn the boat, which had served Him as a pulpit, to the East side of the Lake, where the Lord frequently sought a quiet resting place. While the boat moved toward the secluded section of the glory, Lake, Christ sought rest by turning upon the steersman's. Suddenly one of the terrific which quickly arise on that cause of its position, and disciples with terror. In frenzy they aroused the Master, who demonstrated vine power by calming the and waves. He rebuked disciples for their lack of faith as He probably would critic failure to trust His protection. He is with us, as He has as twelve, whom He was teaching by precept and practice how to carry on His work after His departure, and by a band of women whom He had won by His ministry of love.

Women owe to the missionary work of Jesus their freedom and emancipation from the bondage of slavery. The noble group of women, who followed Jesus and ministered unto Him and His Apostles, had been healed by the great Physician of their infirmities and evil spirits. Their presence made a tremendous appeal to the women of the various communities they visited. Some of them, like the wife of Herodias, were of high social positions. They gave of their funds and found in the commonest tasks for His welfare the joy and privilege of worship. Women have recognized their debt to Christ and have been during all the centuries of Christian history His most loyal supporters and promoters of His missionary program to win the nations of the world for His kingdom.

Jesus recognized the dangers of popularity. He was not deceived by the crowds that flocked out of the cities and communities to hear Him speak along the shore of the Lake of Galilee. He depended upon a quiet men and women one by one for His cause. He proclaimed His greatest truths to one woman at the well of Sychar. Pulpit power has not always promoted the upbuilding of the Kingdom of God. The church that carries the message of sympathy for the needy and of the respect for human rights counts most in His plan. He warned them against counting too much upon popularity because of the diverse character of His hearers.

It was about this time that Jesus commenced a new method of teaching. He adopted the illustrative method of instructing His Apostles and disciples by using the parables that veiled His message from those who possessed no spiritual insight. One of His matchless parables, which is general called that of the sower, is in this week's lesson. He was seeking to impress upon His students during this period of His missionary activities the nature of the Kingdom of God. He could not openly teach that truth without being misunderstood by those who looked upon a kingdom as a revolt against the Romans. These men were present, as spies seeking to catch a contradiction, and condemn Christ's teachings. He was speaking upon a dangerous subject even when He tried to make the disciples understand that it was a spiritual organism growing from Divine seed. He has given us in His own words the interpretation of the parable, which is found in the Gospel of Luke. He presented itself to Him from His floating pulpit that early spring morning, when He preached to the crowds upon the sea shore. The receptivity of human hearts determined the success of missionary effort. This places the responsibility upon each individual soul for his own fate.

The Pharisees could only explain the miracles of Jesus on the ground that He was being used of Satan. They claimed that it was due to the power of the Evil One that He performed His acts of mercy and grace. They must have influenced the Master's family to look at the activities of the Lord from a similar viewpoint for upon one of the occasions, when He returned to His headquarters in Capernaum, His mother and the other members of His family came down from Jerusalem determined to bring Him home with them because they feared for His safety or possibly thought He had overworked and was broken down. When they reached His home, they could not get in because of the crowds so they sent for Him to come out to them. The Lord declined His mother's request, because of His duty to His heavenly Father. There must have been something of a surprise, when Jesus mildly rebuked His kin folk, who wished to interfere with His carrying out His missionary work, by the declaration that spiritual fellowship was more vital than any human ties. Obedience to His word freed the Christians from the bondage of the traditions of the synagogue and traditions of men. It emphasized the spiritual unity of His followers.

Worn out and weary from the activities of the day Jesus ordered: His disciples to turn the boat, which had served Him as a pulpit, to the East side of the Lake, where the Lord frequently sought a quiet resting place. While the boat moved toward the secluded section of the glory,

PRECISIVE GAMES HOLD ATTENTION OF FOOTBALL FANS

INTEREST INTENSE

CHICAGO — Whether the championship of the Western Conference will be a three way affair depends on the outcome of three games today, Chicago-Wisconsin, Iowa-Northwestern and Michigan-Minnesota.

While today's games with every opponent, marked the close of the season, chief interest apparently was drawn to a greater extent to the Wisconsin-Chicago game.

The Maroon's rivals to claims for championship honors, Iowa and Michigan, were expected to win their games against Northwestern and Minnesota, respectively while doubt was thrown as to the outcome of Chicago's game.

This year, for the first time in seven years, the Ohio-Illinois game was held on a neutral field, the University of Chicago.

The three contenders for conference honors have won all their conference games, although none of the three met one another.

YALE BAND TO OPEN ATTACK ON HARVARD

This is how the Yale band will form in the enormous bowl Saturday to blast defiance at the Harvard invaders. Old Eli's musicians show "Y" they will win, and Harvard's band will give them the "H."

DELPHOS RUNS UP HUGE SCORE IN SECOND CONVOY GAME

Jefferson high, Delphos, established a precedent for quick scoring in their victory Friday afternoon over Convoys at the E. Cleveland grounds by the score of 46-0. With in 45 seconds after the initial signal was given, Beardsley, right halfback, trocked across the visitors goal line with the pigskin.

It was the first play after Convoys won the toss and kicked from the south goal. Delphos received the oval on its 30-yard line, advanced it to the 40 and then Beardsley took a short pass from Quarterback Shaffer and ran 60 yards for the first touchdown.

Delphos went across Convoys' goal line six more times. McDonald made the trip three times and Spellman once. Four kicks from place-ment were successful.

The visiting gridgers were swept off their feet. They did not seriously threaten to score once and were piled up in ludicrous fashion by the apt tackling of the Red and White line.

Jeffersonians annexed their second touchdown within a few shakes of the proverbial lamb's tail when Beardsley skirted Convoys' right end from its 30-yard line. His second attempt for the extra point was successful.

Captain Buck McDonald made the touchdown possible by making the seven yards after Delphos had made only three yards in as many tries.

CONVOY GAINS

Convoys made one of its infrequent first downs after the next kickoff, but Delphos then held the visitors for downs and speedily made the third touchdown. Right End Evans contributed largely by snaring a forward pass of 30 yards and placing the ball on Convoys' five-yard line. Spellman plunged across. A pass was attempted in the try for extra points, but failed.

Delphos did not stop at three touchdowns, but scored a fourth before the first quarter ended. The Red and White got the ball when it was booted out of bounds on the kickoff. After two unsuccessful passes, Shaffer heaved the ball to Beardsley, who sidestepped two Convoys backs and scored. The kick failed. The score was 25 to 0. The quarter ended with the ball on Convoys' 45-yard line.

Convoys lost another opportunity to score at the beginning of the second quarter. Successive gains by Beardsley and McDonald were each good for first downs and a pass of 30-yards from Shaffer to McDonald

ARMY VS. NAVY

(By HENRY L. FARRELL)

PHILADELPHIA — "Fight. Army, fight," the resounding battle cry of the gray battalions from West Point thunder thru the streets here today as the Army eleven prepared for its annual battle with the Navy.

"Fight like a—!" the traditional appeal of the Navy in a pinch, reverberated back from the Blue-clad regiments of Annapolis.

Fifty-five thousand football fans gathered here for the annual conflict between the Cadets and midshipmen felt and knew that it was to be a tremendous fight.

In the camp of the Army the situation was looked upon as almost desperate. It has been along time since 1916 and no Army team has defeated the Navy since 1916.

Cadet army officers, and a large portion of the civilian neutral population, felt that this was the day for the army and the followers of the Navy, admitting that the outlook was gloomy, did little more than hope.

With the greatest eleven that has represented West Point in years, breasts under khaki puffed out under confidence and pockets offered money at 7 to 5 that the old army mule would run over the ancient navy goat.

It was real football day—football weather, football crowds and football atmosphere.

A cold biting wind swept thru the Pennsylvania stadium and ran the mercury down to 35 degrees. The sun was out bright, but it did little more than make the setting cheer-ful.

Hotels were crowded to the roof last night and the streets were jammed today by thousands of incoming fans and by sightseeing natives who parked along the curbs of the main thoroughfares to see the cadets and the midshipmen march in from the early morning trains.

It was a real sight, one that only cadets and midshipmen can provide with a parade.

Both teams worked out yesterday in the stadium and both were reported in splendid condition today. Usual "before the battle" statements from the coach were vague. Major Daly, the Army tutor, and J. O. Pollock, the Navy coach, would do nothing more than admit that it was going to be a hard fight.

YALE MEN READY

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Like Knights of old, the football players of Harvard and Yale put on the armor of the gridiron today for their annual joust with the pigskin. To see the Crimson and Blue students in the annual match of bruising contact and skillful evasion, a con-course of alumni and fair followers came from the ends of the country almost of the world.

Outstanding among the 76,000 odd who were sure of seats was the war-time premier of France, Georges Clemenceau. The prospect of seeing in action at the sport that is new to him the teams of the two American colleges most widely known to the world was too much for the Tiger to miss.

The overnight announcement of Coach Tad Jones that Yale would include in its backfield Charlie O'Hearn, its greatest offensive threat, who had been considered out of the contest because of injuries, brought new factors into the probable trend of Blue strategy, and developed anew the question what surprise Harvard would spring.

The use of Hammond, a sophomore who has yet to win his first football spurs, in place of Chapin, a lettered veteran was a possible minor surprise, somewhat discounted.

The disposition of Captain Buell, chief quarterback, still little more than a convalescent, contained another possibility of surprise, with his appearance at the start announced as probable.

Line for line, Yale was almost generally agreed to be the stronger on the scrimmage frontier. Yet the difference was not overwhelming. It was in the backfield, with men available on each team for special ability to support a scheme of surprise strategy, that the issue lay.

The lineup follows:

VOLLEY BALL LEAGUE IS STARTED

Extensive Volley ball schedule has been arranged by Physical Director Maxwell of the Business Men's class.

The class has been divided into two teams of 15 men each, under the coaching captains, Dr. J. B. Polling, Frank Hackman, R. B. Mikesell and C. L. Waller and are called the Broadcasters, the Radiotrons, the Phonostats, and the Sparks.

Two games are to be played each Monday, Wednesday and Friday night, directed after class drill and the standings of the teams will be kept upon a percentage basis.

The schedule ends December 20.

OHIO STATE IS FAVORITE

URBANA, Ill. — Ohio State and Illinois entered the final game of the season, the ninth annual conflict between the two schools with the former credited with the three victories and the latter four. One game ended in a tie.

Ohio State was regarded as the heavy favorite, but the games between the two schools have been notoriously hard fought.

Both teams were somewhat handicapped by cramp. A last minute shift in the line by Coach Wilce of the Buckeyes indicated that his men will enter their attack on the Illinois line.

The lineups were announced as follows:

SNAPPY FIVE WINS

One of the most wild and woolly games seen in these parts in years was staged Friday night at St. John's auditorium, Delphos, when the Snappy Five of Lima, an aggregation of Central High School players, played a tie game with the Best Dregs, Juniors of St. John's high.

Five minutes over time was used to play off an 18-18 tie, but each team scored a basket in the extra time and the game ended at stalemate.

With only three minutes to go, Maclell, Delphos forward, caged the ball, making Delphos almost a sure winner, but Wood, Lima center, came up from behind and saved the game with a neatly-placed shot.

The Snappy Five is the same team which defeated the Best Dregs last week. A third game probably will be played to decide the series.

CENTRAL PLAYS ST. MARYS

For the first time during the present grid season, Lima will not see a football game Saturday afternoon, who at no time has interest in the sport been higher, and nearly every pigskin fan is talking of only one subject — the Thanksgiving Day game.

South arranged its schedule so that the eleven would have a week's rest before the annual city championship clash and instead of battling Saturday, the Blue and Gold squadron will enjoy a day of rest.

Central, on the other hand, has made a marvelous advance in their style of play over the first game of the season, and they travel to St. Marys where the high school aggregation will endeavor to annihilate the troopers.

Central, will probably be in better shape for the season's finale, unless some of the regulars are injured so severely as to keep them out of the last game against South.

A large delegation of students and fans are in the team's entourage and will cheer the Red and Green to victory.

Pacific Coast Will Be Scene Of Two Big Encounters

PALO ALTO, Cal. — Two big games are scheduled for the coast this season after the football gladiators in other sections of the country have packed their uniforms in camp.

Definitely agreed upon is the game between the University of Pittsburgh and Leland Stanford, which is scheduled to be played at Palo Alto Dec. 30.

Despite the fact that Stanford has suffered several reverses interest in the game with Pitt is widespread. It is certain the two elevens will play to a capacity crowd.

There are two outstanding reasons for the great interest that is being shown in the Pitt game. One is the fact that Pittsburgh is coached by Glenn Warner, who is to become head coach at Stanford. This game will give the coast fans a chance to see a real Warner team in action.

Another reason is the decisive manner in which Pittsburgh trounced W. & J. by 19 to 0 score. Football fans who saw W. & J. play California to a scoreless tie have a wholesome respect for Neale's team. Pitt's overwhelming defeat of that team makes it a great satisfaction from a coast viewpoint.

The other big game will be staged at Pasadena. It seems certain that either California or Southern California will represent the coast. Some time ago it was announced Penn State would be the eastern attraction. It is rumored there may be a change.

KENTON ELEVEN IS VICTORIOUS

KENTON — In the most bitterly contested game of the season, Kenton High school's football team played its last home game and defeated the high school team of the Junior Order United American Mechanics of Tiffin, Friday, 14 to 9. ## DOPE PROVES MISLEADING

Take nothing for granted has long been an accepted theory as regards baseball. On the diamond no game is over until the last man is out and you are on the big end of the score.

The take-nothing-for-granted theory will soon be just as applicable to football if teams all over the country continue to upset the dope.

The forward pass and the many other deceptive formations that have crept into the open game makes victory uncertain until the final second of play is over and the whistle has sounded the finish.

A few weeks ago Penn flashed a real surprise by defeating the Navy. It was believed Penn had finally arrived, that Heisman had developed a great team.

Then Penn met Alabama, a team that had been overwhelmed by Georgia Tech, which had been beaten by the Navy. Penn was defeated 9 to 6, in one of the biggest form reversals of the year. Then came a 7 to 6 defeat by Pittsburgh.

Penn is now in the dumps, nothing but victory over the great Cornell team can restore some of the prestige that has been tossed away.

WESLEYAN IS FAVORED

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Wesleyan-Denison game at Granville today attracted the lion's share of attention of Ohio football fans and thousands of them went to the little college town to witness the battle which will decide whether Wesleyan may lay claim to the Ohio Conference championship or whether Denison will learn the title of all-time champion breaker of championship hopes.

The dope favored the Delaware team as the winner, but Denison with its varied attack, including a dazzling aerial game, was expected to furnish a hard battle, and there were many who professed confidence that the big red team would turn in another victory.

Other games of today which were considerably overshadowed by the Wesleyan-Denison battle were: Otterbein vs St. Xavier, at Cincinnati.

Muskingum vs Wooster at Wooster.

Ohio Northern vs Case at Cleveland.

Western Reserve vs Heidelberg at Tiffin.

Wilmington vs St. Ignatius at Cleveland.

ST. JOHN'S FIVE UPSETS DOPE, WALLOPS ST. ROSE QUINTET

St. John's high quintet of Delphos upset bucketfuls of dope Friday night in St. John's auditorium, defeating St. Rose of Lima 25 to 9 in a spectacular game marked by speed, snappy passing and hair-raising goal shooting.

In many circles St. Rose was figured as a sure winner. Even some of the Delphos fans were dubious. The Lima five received a severe jolt due to the ineffectuality of the regular guards, Schmeling and Runiger. Their absence badly crippled the team.

Over confidence contributed largely to Lima's defeat. Wells, the visiting center, was the first to cage the ball. Actions of the St. Rose players denoted that the game was as much as cinched, but Delphos learned its lesson the previous Friday in the Decatur game.

The contest was much like the Decatur game, only Delphos did not allow the opponents to pass the lead piled up in the first half. Lack of polish on the part of St. Rose was noticeable. The team had 11 personal fouls chalked up. Hilary Sheibley, the Delphos captain and left forward, took advantage of these numerous opportunities and caged nine foul goals.

St. John's uncorked a world of speed, using a variety of formations, chiefly the three-man defense. With Davey and Leon Um roving in the back court and with Imber shipping in occasionally insofar as his crippled legs would permit, the visiting tossers had difficulty in passing. Shooting chances were about even. Many of the St. Rose shots were wild, some clearing the backboard.

Delphos led the first half 16 to 5. The Blue and Gold played for time considerably the last frame, but used strong offensive tactics. St. Rose strove vainly to curb its defensive game in the second half and resorted to more of offensive game.

The victory restored all confidence

TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Glass has positive proof he is able to cure tuberculosis by inhalation in any climate.

Southern Title Race Close

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — What about the football championship of the south? What college has the best claim to the southern title? As in all other sections of the country the football situation is rather muddy in the south. Some of the best teams in this section have fallen below expectations, while others have upset the dope.

Georgia Tech is sure to present a strong team. If Tech can win the battle, it will have some mighty strong arguments to offer to support its claim.

Georgia Tech's southern record is clean, although it has been beaten by the Navy and Notre Dame. Auburn recently beat Centre 6 to 0, more or less eliminating that eleven. Auburn has beat Georgia 7 to 3.

M'LAUGHLIN GETS ORDER
FOR PLANS FOR SCHOOLS
Thomas D. McLaughlin, Savings-bldg., was commissioned by the board of education Friday night to design and prepare specifications for three new school buildings and the additions to present buildings, which were authorized by the approval of the recent bond issue proposition by the voters.

Five Lima architects, Peter Hul- sken, Frank Leech, A. D. DeCurtin, DeKob & Travers and T. D. Mc-Laughlin, were present at the special meeting and gave brief out-

Following the open meeting, the board went into executive session, at which time the decision to award the contract to McLaughlin was arrived at.

EVIDENCE INSUFFICIENT,
EASTON DIVORCE SUIT IS
Insufficient evidence to show cruelty at the hands of Louise Easton, cost George Easton, 768 N. West-st., a divorce decree in common pleas court Saturday. His case was continued by the court to allow him to obtain additional witnesses.

Easton testified his wife commenced misconduct and abusing him after their little baby died at birth. He was working in a blast furnace at Defiance. As he would ride away to work, his wife would hurl maledictions at him, wishing that the furnace might blow up while he was nearby, he said.

She varied this wish, Easton said,
by expressing the hope a street car or motor car might hit him. In the home she threw things at him and refused to prepare his meals, he charged.

Mr. Easton is said to be residing at 681 W. Spring-st., under her maiden name, Louise Myers. Easton is employed by a furniture company.
"There is some underlying cause in this case that the court should hear," declared Judge Becker. "There is no corroborative testimony."
